

Rural-road organizer toolkit

A practical launch kit for nearby roads and scattered homes, with source links, voluntary-help prompts, and offline-plan notes.

01 / Before you invite people

1. Look for an existing group at nayborlee.com/explore before starting another.
2. Choose a recognizable name, broad location, and a clear description of who belongs.
3. Decide on a free public introduction or a fully private group with Organizer coverage. Member conversations and lists stay inside the group in either case.
4. Propose the group at nayborlee.com/start. Wait for review and complete the setup shown in your account before inviting members.
5. Agree who will welcome people and help organize. Choose joining rules that fit your community.
6. Post the welcome below and make one small plan. Share invitations using your group's chosen joining method.

Your first month

Week 1: Meet along the road - Invite introductions without asking for private home details.

Week 2: Share reliable sources - Add checked official road, utility, and alert links.

Week 3: Plan voluntary help - Ask what neighbors are comfortable offering and agree privately on details.

Week 4: Review the plan - Check source links and confirm the separately agreed offline arrangements.

02 / Words you can make your own

Replace every bracketed prompt before sharing. Use a public introduction link on a public flyer; share one-use invitation links only with their intended recipients.

An invitation

Hello neighbors! [Group name] is a Nayborlee group for [road or broad area, city/county]. We can share checked local links, get to know each other, and coordinate voluntary help. Once approved and ready, join through [group introduction or invitation link]. This is not an emergency alert service. Members participate free.

Your first welcome post

Welcome! Say hello and share one everyday thing you would find useful here. Official sources: [road/utility/weather links]. For immediate danger, use emergency services. Agree directly on voluntary check-ins, and keep exact home, health, and access details out of posts. Offline contact arrangements should be agreed separately.

A simple first-plan template

Who would like to join [activity]? When: [day and time]. Where: [confirmed meeting place]. Access: [step-free route / seating / other useful notes]. Cost or what to bring: [details]. Reply by [date] if interested. Backup plan: [rain or space alternative].

A few community agreements

- Keep conversation useful, kind, and connected to the group's purpose.
- Ask before sharing another person's photo or personal details. Keep home, unit, and access information out of public materials.
- Use official channels for urgent issues, formal notices, and emergencies.
- Check details with the original source. Record when each local link was last checked.

03 / Make it local

Keep this worksheet for your organizing team. Share only the details appropriate for your public introduction or member group. Add official links instead of unverified advice.

Road / broad boundaries / county / city / ZIP

Who belongs and joining instructions

Official road-condition source

Official utility / outage source

Official alerts / emergency information source

Accessible meeting place

Voluntary check-in arrangements (keep private)

Offline communication plan / source-check date

Local links last checked: _____ By: _____

Useful starting points

Find a group: nayborlee.com/explore Start a group: nayborlee.com/start County activities and area guides: nayborlee.com/happenings Current pricing and trial terms: nayborlee.com/pricing

Neighbors participate free. A public-introduction group is free. Fully private groups use an Organizer plan. Review current pricing and any applicable trial renewal terms before choosing a paid plan.